Good Things Go Astray and the Layers Reap a Harvest.

PLUCKY A SURPRISE,

Shift of Jockeys Makes a Marvellous Change in the Colt's Form.

By Frank J. Bryan.

If, to-day's and to-morrow's sport at Brighton is of the sort furnished yesterday, many who have been planning a trip to Saratoga will be unable to keep their promises to themselves for want of funds. At first glance yesterday's programme looked overflowing with "good things." The bettors went to the track expecting to come away with great bunches of the layers' money, but when the last race had been decided pockets were empty and Sara-toga a place unthought of.

This disaster was brought about by the defeat of five of the six favorites, Bannockburn alone being faithful to the trust reposed, and as he was a 7 to 10 chance his winning brought but little consolation. Most surprising of the day's upsets was the victory of Plucky in the Montauk Stakes. This colt was unplaced in his ast race, and for this reason few gave his chances a second thought. Those who control chim were not satisfied with his handing when beaten, and they telegraphed to Windsor for Harry Lewis to come on and Employes Are in an Unsettled Temper and May Tie Up the Road.

Nothwithstanding denials of the Delaward ware & Lackawanna officials, persistent runners of an impending strike still circulate at Hoboken. There is no denying that the men are in an unsettled temper, and the mext move of the officials may result in a general tie-up on the road.

Leaders among the men say that the officials have made too many promises that bary to been fulfilled. They demand shorter hours, better wages and a guarantee that when they have grown gray in the service of the company they will not be turned adrift.

There was a fresh southwest breeze all the moraling which increased now and again in puffs, but later in the day, when the breeze was only a very moderate one and had shifted more to the south, so that in order to get a beat straight to windward the buoys had to be changed. The wind kept shifting all the time and continued to moderate. In changing the buoys it was found that each leg would have to be reduced to one and a half miles, making the curse four times around to complete the twelve miles.

After considerable trouble of this kind and the buoys had been changed three times, the starting whistle blew at 3.05 and the waiting spectators anxiously looked for a race. Constance, gave out the following statement:
"By the rules of the Seawanhaka deed of gift the windward and back course should be three miles to windward and return, salled twice. This rule was walved by special agreement, and in place thereof the rule was substituted that the course should be two miles to windward and return, salled three times, and in event of it not being possible to lay out this course, one and half missinstance the course was hald out two miles to windward and return, salled three times, and in event of it not being possible to lay out this course, one and half missinstance the course was hald out two miles to windward and return course. The salling Committee acceeded, and Professor Capper logged the course from the starting line to windward, a little over one will, when he got into shool water and hald to stop.

The Salling Committee he course to the sarring twee did windward for the mark. I then recalled the course as it existed. This was declared impossible, and I withdrew the Constance. The Salling Committee is also differed, if they would recall the Glencaim, to move the starting line outshore and sail the race on the course as it existed. This was declared impossible, and I withdrew the Constance. The salling committee acceted the course to the part of the course as it existed. This was declared impossible, and I withdrew the Constance.

The Salling Committee is first the fo impossible, and I withdrew the Constance."

The Sailing Committee meet to-night to decide the protest. The question has been raised as to whether Constance, not having crossed the starting line and, therefore, not in the race, has the right to protest it.
